RETURNS FROM CANADA

MRS. MAC MULLIN SAYS WAR SPIRIT PREVAILS IN THE DOMINION

Mrs. H. E. MacMullin, who has just returned from Canada, tells of very different conditions there from those we have in California. Our talk of the high cost of living rather diminishes before reports of the prices which prevail across the northern boundary. Bread is 22 cents a loaf there and milk 17 cents a quart, though the Canadians take the extra precaution of pasteurizing all milk. In no large city is there raw milk sold, and Mrs. MacMullin thinks that our officials in this country will soon see the wisdom of following this excellent example. It is claimed that children drinking pasteurized milk are immune from the dreaded infantile paralysis germ. With butter at seventy-five cents a pound, and small and economical roasts of meat, such as Mrs. MacMullin's family recently enjoyed there for $4.25, at corresponding prices, she says that all other living expenses are in proportion. And this despite the record-breaking crops, the products of which must be shipped to the front. Business along all ordinary lines is reported to be at a standstill.

The horrors of war are brought home to Canadians in another and more tragic form in the appearance on all sides of the returned soldier boys, bearing the marks of their patriotic sacrifice in the most terrible forms. The hospitals of Canada are full of sick and wounded soldiers. Even those not mutilated are frequently deaf and even dumb. Mrs. MacMullin was personally acquainted with two gunners whose only form of speech is now an unintelligible gurgle, though in neither case have the organs of speech been injured in any way excepting through the frightful nervous strain of an artilleryman, who throws out shells at the rate of one every two seconds in the midst of the constant roar of the big guns. In one of these instances the doctors think the afflicted man will recover his ability to speak within a year or so.

The schools of Canada are doing their bit by remaining closed until the middle of October in order to give the time of even the school children to the patriotic task of gathering the crops, which have been wonderful this season, with the single exception of the apple crop. Canadians are confident of winning the war, and in the midst of the sorrow and suffering one sees on every hand, their brave hopes are beautiful and inspiring.

Mrs. MacMullin reports a most interesting trip in every way. On her way home she made several visits, stopping for several days in Detroit and a week in Chicago, where she visited Miss Aileen Preeman of Glendale.

MRS. DUFFIELD SELLS TIN FOIL

Last week Mrs. Clinton Booth, who has a car and a patriotic spirit, took Mrs. Harry Duffield, chairman of tin foil collection committee, to Los Angeles, where she disposed of 112 pounds of lead and tin foil. As a result, the Glendale Red Cross Chapter is $11.30 richer to-day than it was before.

The campaign for saving tin foil was started by Mrs. Duffield about the first of July with a nucleus of sixty-five pounds donated by the members of the Morosco Theatre orchestra. Since then scarcely a day has passed that she has not received a contribution from some source. However, it takes a lot to make a pound and everyone is urged to "do their bit" in saving. Tin and lead foil, collapsible paste and paint tubes, lead bottle tops, copper in any form and old tires are what are wanted. They will be sold to buy comforts for American soldiers. Take to the Red Cross headquarters, Brand boulevard between Broadway and Third streets, or to the Chamber of Commerce, or notify Mrs. Duffield, 1222 Lomita avenue, telephone Glendale 28-W, and she will collect.

AN OLD THEATRE MAN

Mrs. E. M. Tuft, 1421 Burchett, had as dinner guest on Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. M. Elleford of Phoenix, who are old friends of Mrs. Tuft. Mr. Elleford is a man of early theatrical fame in California, being manager of the only theatrical troupe on the coast back in '49, and therefore a very popular man. That his popularity has not waned is proven by the fact that, though now retired, his many theatrical friends in Los Angeles are to celebrate "Elleford Night" on Saturday, September 29th, when Mr. Elleford will be the guest of honor at the banquet.

HIGH SCHOOL RED X

SOMETHING BIG STARTED YESTERDAY AMONG G. U. H. S. STUDENTS

Through the courtesy of Principal Moyse, a representative of the local Red Cross Chapter addressed the students at the assembly hour Wednesday. The large auditorium was packed and not a few had to stand up.

In introducing Dr. Henry R. Harrower, the Principal referred to the lectures given by the Doctor last year and cut short his own remarks to two brief announcements. Doctor Harrower started out something like this: "If President Wilson were in my place this morning and he asked you to pitch in and help with this war, what would you say? Well, I am the President's representative, for he is the head of the American Red Cross and I am one of the small cogs in the Glendale wheel. We want your collective and individual help."

The Doctor continued by asking for assistance: Boys to help Miss Maybelle Douglas with the collection and stacking of old newspapers. Six volunteered to work regularly. Girls to help with the ambulance pillows. A number promised to help. Girls to join a Surgical Supplies Class under Mrs. Tuft (whose name, by the way, seemed to stimulate the students' risibilities). More than thirty raised their hands and were invited to see Mrs. Tuft at headquarters after school on Friday afternoon. Old bedspreads—a hundred of them—were begged. They will be used to make surgical pads.

Then a very important subject was broached. The students were invited to form a regular Auxiliary to the local Chapter and more than sixty raised their hands as willing to come in, pay their dollar and get busy. Dr. Harrower said that were there a few who did not have the dollar, and could not earn it, he would see that the membership fee was secured from somewhere, so that no willing worker desirous of joining the Red Cross and really helping, would be kept back for this reason. The matter of the Junior Red Cross (of which there will be considerably more said later) was mentioned and when the students were invited to express themselves as to whether they preferrd to join as "grown up" at a dollar or "juniors" at a quarter, there was not a vote in favor of the latter. It is believed that the G. U. H. S. Auxiliary will become a live force and it is hoped that plans for the organization of these young folks will be brought to a head immediately and that much additional work thus may be accomplished.

A request was also made for assistance on "Pie Day" and over fifty young ladies promised to make pies for the boys on Dead Man's Island next week. (Be careful, girls!) The pies will be delivered to San Pedro on Thursday morning, October 4th and should be taken to the Chamber of Commerce before school begins that morning. One hundred and fifteen pies will be needed, and we hope that not one of those who promised this sort of help will forget or fall down on her word.

Altogether it was an enthusiastic meeting, interspersed with much hearty laughter and hand clapping. We have as fine a lot of young folks in our community as can be found anywhere and we believe that they are as patriotic and willing to work for their country as any. We shall see what results from this noon-time lecture.

ENTERTAINS FRED'K POWELL

Mrs. E. Leroy Nessler, 1425 Burchett, gave a dinner party on Monday in honor of her very interesting house guest, Mr. Frederick Powell, the sleight of hand artist, who contributed most amusingly to the entertainment of the evening. Mr. Powell was at the Burbank theatre in Los Angeles last week, and has now left for the east. His work will take him through Canada this winter. Those present at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. E. Leroy Nessler, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Powell, Mrs. Eveleen F. White, who is Mrs. Nessler's mother and a cousin to Mr. Powell, and Miss Dorothy Merrick of Pasadena. Mrs. Nessler has now as house guests Mrs. Marion Branson of San Diego and her mother, Mrs. White.

Hundreds of detectives and federal agents conducted raids simultaneously in various parts of the city. Some of the suspects surrendered only after being roughly handled.

Charges against those arrested varied from treasonable actions to being enemies or guilty of sedition.

Several government employes are said to be among those rounded up.

GOLDEN WEDDING

MR. AND MRS. GOSS RENEW THEIR WEDDING VOWS OF FIFTY YEARS AGO

The mutual vows taken fifty years ago were renewed on Wednesday evening at the First Methodist church, when Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Dana Goss celebrated their golden wedding in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. That the occasion was regular in every way, the following telegram from their nephew, Frank C. Goss, city recorder of Wabasha, Minnesota, certifies: "R. D. Goss, 708 West Fifth street, Glendale, Cal. According to the records in my office, Ransom D. Goss and Anna Barnard were married in this city September 26, 1867. My congratulations and best wishes for fifty years more. May God bless and keep you, is the wish of your nephew, Frank C. Goss."

In the little Methodist parsonage at Wabasha, Minn., just fifty years ago, Mr. R. D. Goss and Miss Anna Barnard were married, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. L. Farber, pastor of the church, with Mrs. Elizabeth Goss, mother of the groom, and Mrs. Mary Watson as witnesses. The wedding took place at five o'clock in the afternoon. The little bride was nineteen and the groom twenty-three. After a wedding dinner they went to housekeeping on a nearby farm.

The ceremony at Glendale on Wednesday was held at an hour corresponding to the original ceremony. Loving friends had decorated the beautiful church in a most artistic color scheme of green and gold. The chancel and pulpit were banked with palms and ferns rising to the organ loft with tall vases of golden chrysanthemums rising from the greenery in a most effective manner. The green velvet curtain of the choir loft was bordered with feathery plumosas flecked with yellow daisies and on it were the significant dates, 1867-1917 in letters of gold. The four rows of pews reserved for the immediate relatives were roped with satin ribbons of gold, while at the four corners of the space reserved were knots of the same, each with a stately chrysanthemum standing like a sentinel on guard.

The ushers at the church were Dr. A. L. Bryant, Prof. Geo. U. Moyse, John G. Ferguson, Frank H. Dickman, C. W. Burket. Mrs. Rebecca L. Lacey, E. U. Emery and Wm. A. Goss registered the guests' names at the door. The choir of the First Methodist Church with Mr. Ricksecker at the organ, occupied the choir loft.

At five o'clock the strains of the beautiful Lohengrin wedding march were heard and, preceded by the usher, Dr. A. L. Bryant, and Rev. B. Dudley Snudden, pastor of the church, the bride and groom of fifty years ago passed down the aisle and took their places on the front seat before the chancel. Before the ceremony, a most beautiful and appropriate musical program was given. The following numbers were rendered:

1. Wedding March from Lohengrin
   Mr. Ricksecker
2. Pipe Organ.....Richard Berry
   (a) Grand Chorus in B flat, by Theo. Dubois
   (b) Cantilene Nuptiale, by Theo. Dubois
   (c) Marche Romaine by Ch. Gounod
3. A Perfect Day.....Bond
   Whistling Solo by Miss Isgrig, with Cello Obligato by Dana Burket
4. Old Time Sweethearts' Wedding Duet, Mrs. Ira Moyse and Miss Isgrig

Following the program Mr. and Mrs. Goss took their places before

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1917

THE RAILROADS ARE BUSY TRANSPORTING TROOPS

C. J. McDonald, assistant to Wm. Sproule, chairman of the Western Department of the Railroads' War Board, reported last night that the entrainment of forty per cent of the draft contingent had been completed successfully all over the country. While many troop trains are still moving toward the encampments, no more men are being entrained.

The railroads are now faced with the task of getting their equipment back in time to take care of the next allotment of the draft, which they are under orders to begin carrying on October 3. The next allotment will also consist of forty per cent and must be entrained completely by October 6. In the meantime, the carriers have no chance to rest for the National Guard mobilization, which has been suspended for the last five days and began again yesterday, several contingents in Oregon taking up their journeys.

According to McDonald, there will be 21,000 men when this movement is completed. This will be a little less than half, so that the job involves in all, 46,000 men. When the 100 carloads of troops now enroute reach American Lake, the total equipment delivered there by the railroads will be 450 cars, or about 50 trains.

Two thousand, five hnudred and eighty carloads of freight have been consumed n the construction of Camp Lewis. Equipment, such as uniforms, blankets, etc., is now being delivered at the rate of eight carloads a day.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS TO HAVE DEBATING CLUBS

Now the grammar school boy and girl are to have a chance to acquire skill in public speaking.

Its debating league for the high schools having proved a great success, the University of California Extension Division is now going to form a "Junior Section" of the Interscholastic Public Speaking League of California.

Pupils in the elementary and intermediate schools may now compete for the state championship in debates and in essay-writing contests. Any school which wishes to enter must write before October 27, 1917, to the Bureau of Public Discussion, in care of the University Extension Division, at the University of California.

All contestants in the Junior Section must be below the age of fifteen. Each school is to choose its best speaker and its best essay writer by any method the school may work out.

The state will be divided into eighteen divisions, consisting of from one to six counties each. After a series of preliminary contests, a final debating contest will be held at the University. The University will defray the expenses of the speakers participating in this final contest for the state debating championship.

DEFEAT OF SUBMARNE

The announcement of the navy department that less than one-half of one per cent of vessels escorted by the warships fall victims to the German submarine seems to sound the death knell of German hopes which were pinned to the underwater boats of war.

Reduced to plain figures, this statement means that a thousand freighters can carry food to England with a loss of but five. It is likely that the loss of fast liners is far less than this percentage.

It is probable that the percentage of loss of the fast steamers as a result of the diver campaign would not exceed the ordinary loss incident to the accidents of the sea.

More than that, the improvement of the means of warfare on the submarines and the increase in the number of the patrol and escort boats make it certain that the divers have passed the maximum of their efficiency.

Under the circumstances the German reliance on the sumbarine boats for victory is a confession of defeat. England is safe against famine.

The United States has demonstrated as has Canada, that troops properly convoyed can be sent across the ocean with speed and safety. Now the announcement of the navy asserts that food supplies can be carried easily across the Atlantic.

Hopeless of a military victory by their own confession, outnumbered in men and guns, with their own food supply short, the coal supply very low, the mines handicapped by lack of men, with the boys of the class of 1918 already dying in the trenches, and now with their last weapon rendered nearly valueless, the plight of the German autocracy is hopeless.

This does not mean immediate peace, for the German people are not allowed to know these things. It does mean that peace will come as soon as the German people learn the truth.—Sacramento Union.

CORNBREAD

The government has asked us to eat cornbread one day each week and help save the wheat for the soldiers who are going to fight for us. It's a good suggestion.

This whole country was pioneered on cornbread. The Pilgrim Fathers almost lived on it. Corn was the first crop planted in all the virgin soil, as it was settled from the Atlantic out across the Alleghenies upon the broad prairies to the Rockies and beyond. Corn was a crop that would grow even in the uncleared forest of the middle west. The pioneers used to deaden trees by girdling and drop corn in the hills in the unplowed soil and get a first crop that way.

Sturdy men were reared on cornbread and venison.

But in these days cornbread has fallen into disuse in the cities, partly because wheat has been so cheap, and partly because women have forgotten how to make palatable cornbread.

Let the cooking experts get busy now and tell us again how to make cornbread like grandma used to make."—K. C. Star.

The Glendale Evening News should be delivered at your home by the carrier not later than 4:30 p. m. every day except Sunday, and usually much earlier than that time. Subscribers who have not received their paper at 4:30 o'clock, should notify the office by phone: Glendale 132, Home 2401.

If every city in California is as well represented at the state league meeting at Santa Rosa this week as is Glendale, the attendance must be exceedingly large. Glendale is represented by the city manager, the city engineer, public service manager and the health officer. Considering that Santa Rosa is located north of San Francisco and that four city officials are in attendance from Glendale is quite remarkable. City Manager Watson and City Engineer Edw. M. Lynch have places on the program.

The management of the Evening News extends thanks to the many citizens of the community who so kindly assist in furnishing news items for the paper.

Where is N. W. McBride, who for merly conducted a grocery store at 1208 W. Broadway, Glendale, is a question asked by some of his former patrons and friends. This worthy gentleman has a position in the Logan store in Casa Verdugo and is enjoying life like every other conscientious citizen of Southern California.

TIME TO REMEMBER THE CROPS OF DECEMBER

Now's the time and this the season when it's nothing short of treason if we fail to practice Thrift with all our might; Thrift that saves for futures uses and prevents unwise abuses of the vast supply of foodstuff now in sight. We've two million gardens growing and they're making such a showing that we've got to make them count for all they're worth. If we'd free this mighty nation from the danger of starvation we must wisely use this wealth of Mother Earth. Each of us should be lambasted if we let the stuff be wasted, for its loss is something Nature never meant. Nature surely ne'er intended that our duty should be ended with the harvest of the crop which she has sent. 'Twas her manifest intention, as I scarcely need to mention, that this food supply so lavish and so free, unmistakably and plainly should be used so well and sanely as to help us win our fight across the sea. We must recognize our duty, in its fullest truth and beauty, to the nations fighting with us for the right; to the people patriotic who are battling rule despotic which essays to plunge the world in endless night. There should be no need for pleading that we turn our thoughts to feeding those who're joined with us against the common foe. We must simply take for granted that the gardens we have planted have a worth which everyone of us must know. We must practice conservation of our wealth of vegetation if we're going to do our part in Nature's plan. We must one and all remember that the Harvest of December must be reaped from stuff in package, jar or can. So by canning or by drying let us set about supplying everything we need to stock our pantry shelves. Thus we'll stop a waste that's vicious and provide the food nutritious for the gallant allied forces and ourselves.

MUSIC IN THE AIR

CAMP LEWIS, Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 27.—Twenty thousand men today are learning to be soldiers to the strains of ragtime, ballad and grand opera. Music's on the air from morn 'till night and from one end of the camp ao the other.

Phonographs are scattered everywhere through the camp. Ukeleles, guitars, banjos and mandolins—yes and the plebian harmonica, all have their seats in the orchestra. And the men who do not play, sing or whistle. Everyone contributes something to the music.

One Tacoma man has given the soldiers 200 grafonolas and records for each machine. The gift was made on one condition—that the name of the donor should not be revealed.

Drafted men from Camp Lewis will be sent to fill the gaps in the California and Utah national guards, according to announcement to-day. The men for the Utah units will go to Camp Kearney at Linda Vista, Cal., while the men for the California units will move immediately to Camp Greene, at North Charlotte, North Carolina, where the Californians are in training.

John C. Daley, jockey of international reputation, is among the men training here. "You see, they had to have me," Daley said, "because I know Berlin so well and the boys will need guides to show them the sights when we arrive."

JURORS ARE GHOST EXPERTS

DENVER, Colo., September 27.—The unusual spectacle of prospective jurors being required to give their views on ghosts, spirits and supernatural messages was seen here recently in a trial involving contest of the will of Mrs. Mary Luthe, wealthy widow, whose money was left to mediums. Relatives contested the document.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion C. Holcomb, 202 West Third street, are moving on Friday to their new residence, 241 East Fifth street. Mr. Holcomb's mother, Mrs. Francis Holcomb, will accompany them. Miss Florence Bennette, who owns the house the Holcombs are leaving, will now occupy it herself.

The Merrill furniture stock at 918 West Broadway, Glendale, is in the hands of the Los Angeles board of trade. If anybody can define the origin of this organization and why it becomes necessary for the man in business who becomes financially embarrassed to turn his merchandise in to the hands of such an organization, a vote of thanks will be forthcoming.

Mr. H. J. Bender, 811 Cameron place, has returned after an absence of three months in Wyoming and Montana, where he has been on business. Mr. Bender is the superintendent of the Riverside Portland Cement Company's oil interests at Monte Bella, so that he has occasion to cover a good deal of country in the course of business—but he lives in Glendale.

The senior class at the High School has ordered the new class rings, which will appear on October 12th. These rings are to be very distinctive ornaments, in a brownish green gold, with lettering in old Chinese writing. The letters G. U. H. S. will be raised, and the figures 1918, also in the old Chinese characters, will be imbedded on the back in green and white gold, these being the class colors.

That man R. M. McGee, who conducts a drygoods store at 580 West Broadway, Glendale, is indeed a distinguished gentleman, as he is the only drygoods dealer who advertises regularly in the community daily paper. His place of business is at 580 West Broadway, opposite the City Hall. He is a pleasant gentleman to meet and on account of his exceptional distinction you are advised to call on him when in need of drygoods.

Ronald and Rollis, the two sons of Mrs. Edith Elrod, who lives at the Fulmer Apartments, Broadway and Brand, are at home again after a month's trip in the east, where they visited relatives and friends in St. Louis and through Illinois. The boys brought with them as trophies of their trip four big turtles, carefully preserved and very much alive in their box compartment. Ronald, the older, has taken a position with the H. L. REAL SPORTS TRAINING FOR MEN OF THE NATIONAL ARMY

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Following out a plan evolved by Secretary Baker after much study, the War Department Commission Camp Activities is ready to begin on training its national army recruits in sports as well as in war.

Instructors have been appointed and assigned to the cantonments. These will be augmented from time to time by others. Sports of all sorts, it has been found, have a distinctive part in the life of the embryo soldier. Even children's games have been used by French and British in preparing men to whip Germany. Most attention in this country, however, will be paid to baseball, the national game.

Announcement already has been made of the following assignments:

Rev. Snudden at the chancel and renewed the vows made so long ago. The wedding ring, worn so thin, was again placed on the little hand with promises to cherish and protect. Opportunity was given for all of the large number of friends present to offer congratulations. Friends were there from Glendale, Pasadena, Hollywood, Alhambra and other adjacent towns.

An interesting feature was the presence at the ceremony of seventeen friends, all former residents of New Sharon, Iowa, where Mr. and Mrs. Goss formerly resided.

All day gifts and telegrams came pouring into the Goss home. The gifts were many and valuable. Telegrams came from Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas and California friends.

Following the ceremony at the church the bridal party to the number of fifty guests were served an elaborate dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Goss' daughter, Mrs. C. W. Burket. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Burket was decorated in yellow and white, gold coreopsis and white marguerites.

After dinner the bridal party repaired to the home of Dr. Bryant, a brother of the bride, and listened to a most delightful program, the most interesting numbers being readings by the little bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Goss have lived in Glendale 14 years and have been identified with the church and social life of the town. Three children came to them, John Goss, now living in Henderson Iowa, who was unable to be present, and Wm. A. Goss and Mrs. Emma Burket of Glendale.

THE RANDOLPH FUNERAL

The funeral of Mr. A. W. Randolph will be held on Saturday at one-thirty o'clock at the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking Company. Interment will be at Rosedale Cemetery.

The city trustees have decided to call an election to submit to the people of Glendale the proposition of issuing bonds to the extent of $17,000 for the addition to our fire-fighting facilities of a pumping engine and other necessary equipment. The election will be held on October 30th. Citizens who have been qualified voters at any election held since January 1, 1916, and who have not changed their residence, do not need to register, and for the convenience of others the following deputy registrars have been appointed by Registrar Lyon: Miss M. E. Meyton, at branch postoffice, Glendale avenue south of Broadway, and Mrs. Helen M. Bott at the Glendale Book Store, Brand boulevard south of Broadway.

Voters must be registered thirty days previous to election so the time is short in which to attend to it, expiring Saturday of this week, the 29th.

LA CANADA

Mrs. Penfield, with Miss Helen Cooper as her guest is spending this week in Venice.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Schieffelin entertained members of the El Monte Orchestra in their beautiful new home on Palm Drive Thursday evening.

The La Canada grammar school opened Monday, September 24th, with a total enrollment of 54. This exceeds the enrollment last year by eight.

The regular meeting of the Red Cross was held Tuesday afternoon, September 25th, in the school building. The interest manifested in this work is encouraging, but more workers are needed. Remember to do your bit.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society will be held at the church Wednesday, October 3d. All members and those interested in the work of this organization are urged to be present at this meeting.

The next Improvement meeting will be held October 6th in the school auditorium. It is under the supervision of Mrs. Joy Schieffelin and promises to be another "rare treat." The "El Monte Orchestra" will give several selections. The remainder of the program is kept a close secret. A laugh is promised everybody who attends this meeting.

A meeting was held of all officers and those interested in the welfare of the church Sunday evening, at the home of the pastor, Dr. Scott. So many of the young people being called from the valley, it was decided the Christian Endeavor could not be continued without help from the older people of the valley. It is urged now that all interested in keeping up the C. E. society should come out and help. The first meeting will be held Sunday evening, September 30th, at 7 o'clock. A junior society is to be started. Definite announcements regarding this will be made soon.

The Tri-City Progress has been able to obtain parts of a second letter from Hubert Bentley, who is a transport driver in the French army. Mr. Bentley is now at the front and his next letter will doubtless contain many more interesting points in regard to the war.

Training Camp, Aug. 12, '17.

Dear ——:

We get no news regarding the war or the world in general. We merely hear rumors which of course are contradictory.

I got my first sight of real war here the other evening. I got out with some other fellows on a hill and watched the Allied aeroplanes patrolling the trenches. There were dozens in the air at once, some high, some low and some doing wonderful stunts. We could see the little puffs of smoke made by exploding shrapnel near them. Also we have seen several big sausage observation balloons of the French army hanging up in the clouds with shrapnel bursting in their vicinity.

Have also examined old dugouts, bomb proofs and trenches. Some have been used and others were built long ago for reserve purposes. There are occasional shell holes. Barbed wire entanglements run in great lines across the fields and through the woods as far as we can see, and from their appearance it seems impossible that any human being could penetrate them while under any fire at all.

We see lots of troops off on leave at their homes or quartered here and there on farms and villages. But as almost every Frenchman is in uniform, nobody takes any special interest. The French are a much larger, huskier race than I had imagined. The peasants are built for hard work and look as though they could go through anything.

We have a French soldier on each of our practice trucks, who has general charge of it, and sees that we don't wreck it. As most of them know no English, we have a great time talking French to them.

I talk French whenever I get a chance in order to improve my vocabulary and am getting on fine. Have made friends with the three French chefs here and can usually get extra eats, hot water, etc., when I want it. One night they put my shoes near the stove all night and the next morning they were dry for the first time in a week.

Last night when we left our truck after driving all afternoon the French soldier turned to me and shook hands and said, "Bon soir, bon conducteur," or "Good evening, good driver." That was a proud moment.

They make us turn those immense trucks around on the narrow French roads for practice. On each side are muddy ditches and about half the men lose their heads with all the French and American officers yelling at them, and run straight back into them. Then some other truck has to pull them out and the driver gets a big balling out. So far I have stayed out of trenches and hit no trees or stone walls, though I am not as good at shifting gears—we have three speeds and reverse—as some of the other men. I am more or less clumsy, but I never lose my head and grab the wrong lever as some of the poor kids do.

The other day we drove into a little village with about eight trucks and had to back a block or so up the streets and then follow each other, still backing, into an auto parking full of trees. As the driver can not look behind to see where he is going, he has to be guided entirely while backing by the signals of his second driver, who stands in front of the truck and watches where it is going. We all have to take turns doing both.

Another morning we went over to another place and saw a bunch of German prisoners housed in an old inn where they are kept for work on a big farm. They are big, husky fellows and grinned at us through the barbed wire netting across their windows. One of them was a Saxon and talked pretty good French, and while the cars were waiting at the place I had time to talk to him several minutes. He had been a machine gunner and was captured in May.

To-morrow a section which has been here ten days longer than we, goes to the front, and the next day another fresh batch of recruits comes in.

One of the officers told me that our section was one of the best they had had as regards the men. He said they could always tell a crowd of gentlemen the first day they came in from a bunch of "loose hoisters" and "tent muckers." And really the section deserves his praise in that regard. They are a splendid set of men and to know them is to like them better. If anything, the average are more of the delicate, studious type than the reverse. I have been surprised several times by some of them referring to me as quite husky and one of the strongest in the section. But I begin to believe it is so, for most of the fellows have not been very far from the big eastern cities or lived an outdoor life before.

TUJUNGA

Mr. and Mrs. John Curtin have moved to Los Angeles.

William says that lumber sales are brisk, which shows progress.

Mrs. John Grover of Seattle was the guest of Miss Zoe M. Gilbert this week.

Mrs. C. N. Thayer left Monday afternoon for her new home in Los Angeles.

Captain Blake made a flying visit to his wife here, having been called from his northern post to the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curtis of Los Angeles were the guests of J. E. Carr and wife of Greeley avenue Sunday.

Whatever happens, whoever comes andwhoever goes, Tujunga has a future that is attractive to people who have vision.

The local Red Cross workers are doing their bit in vigorous fashion. Much credit is due Miss Julia Culver for organizing and managing the work.

Miss H. L. McKee was in town two or three days this week, returning to the city Wednesday. She is a member of the choir at the Billy Sunday meetings.

The meetings of the Colonial club, now being held at Rowley's hall, Sunland, are well attended despite the necessity of securing transportation from this village.

Wilmot Parcher of San Ysidro street is trying the superimposed bed system of potato growing. We are watching it. Mr. Parcher is nothing if not up to date.

G. V. Reel, who has been the mail carrier on Route 11 for the past three years, takes a route at Long Beach October 1st, exchanging with A. M. Hansen. All wish Mr. Reel good luck in his new route.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mauk, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Wrobel and Sarah Marie Mauk of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Leo L. Lang and Charles Lang of this village were the Sunday guests of W. B. Barkley and wife of Greeley avenue.

Capt. P. J. Blake paid a flying visit to his home in this village Sunday. He is ordered east and stopped here that he might spend a few hours with his wife. The captain is looking well and in his service uniform is a typical American army officer, than which there are none better.

The final day of the hearing on the water question before the Railroad Commissioners was at the club house Tuesday. The sessions were largely attended and the decision of the board reserved until the evidence introduced could be studied and passed upon.

Credit is due to the directors of the Littlelanders Store, Incorporated, both past and present, for their faithful labors. It is understood that the mortgage on the property has been fully paid off. Miss Zoe M. Gilbert has been elected a member of the board of directors.

We needn't be ashamed of our representation in the army and navy. They are bright and patriotic. These, at least are to be credited to us: Capt. P. J. Blake, Chancellor Livingston, E. Lewis, D. Cowlin and Frank Geren in the navy; Frank Begue, Joseph W. Forster and Felhaber come to mind, and there may be others.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Malona leave Tujunga next Thursday to make their home in Los Angeles. Their going is a distinct loss to the community. Both of them being active in many things that made for the good of the people. May their life in the new home be as happy and prosperous as their useful work here has entitled them to enjoy.

The Colonial Dance Club held their party in Rowley's hall on Saturday eve last.

Miss Emma Kraft and Mrs. Mabel Dean were in the city Monday, taking Mrs. Slavinsky to Burbank.

The Ladies' Aid were entertained by the Sunland Aid at the park on Thursday and had an enjoyable time.

Geo. Buck and Ed Greenfield went to Hermosa Beach on a fishing expedition last Thursday and report a fine catch.

Mrs. Maygrove will give a social dance at Bolton hall on Saturday eve, the 29th. Every one is cordially invited to attend.

Miss Lucy Lee, who has been in Bishop at the tungsten mines with her brother, has returned to Tujunga for a few weeks, and later will go north for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher have moved from their ranch on Walnut street to their winter home on Michigan avenue, so they will be closer to the feed store and school.

Mrs. Batchelder of Los Angeles has rented Miss Corsair's place on Los Angeles for a time. She was here last winter and liked the place so well that she is returning again for a time.

A good deal of building and repairing seems to be going on. Miss Rhodheaver is repeairing and adding to her home. Miss Zoe Gilbert is building a new cottage on her lot. Mrs. Johnson has moved into her new home on San Ysidro.

Always speak well of the place in which you live, even if everything does not go as smoothly as it should. If you can not live happily there, how can you expect to sell your place to any one else. Don't make trouble for others, or it may return to you. If you have not made life a bit easier for those about you, you have lived in vain. Just a cup of cold water is all, if lovingly given.

The Young Peoples Endeavor Society have turned in thirty surgical pillows to the Red Cross auxiliary of this place and when one understands the amount of work necessary to fill the pillows, one can realize what this means. At present some garments or cloth for same is wanted for children's clothes, which the ladies will alter and make over. The making of housewives and mules is the order of the day and the knitting brigade have finished a large consignment of socks, mufflers, wristlets and helmets, ready to be shipped by October 1st. Nearly a thousand candles are ready, so one can see that Tujunga is not behind others.

DANGEROUS TRICK

Flipp—There's your husband coming now, Mrs. Brown. Let's play a joke on him. Mrs. Flipp and I will hide behind the screen and you tell him we haven't arrived. Then we'll pop out and surprise him.

Mrs. Brown—(as husband enters)—Well, John, our expected guests haven't arrived—Mr. and Mrs. Flipp haven't come.

Brown (fervently)—Thank heaven!

TOWER OF LONDON

A royal palace, consisting of no more than what is now known as the "White Tower," appears to have been the beginning of the Tower of London. It was commenced in 1078 by William the Conqueror and finished by William's son, William Rufus, who, in 1098, surrounded it with walls and a broad ditch. Several succeeding kings made additions to it, and King Edward III erected the church. In 1638 the old White Tower was rebuilt, and in the reign of Charles II a great number of additions were made to it. The new buildings in the Tower were completed in 1850.

BEST HE COULD DO

"My hair is coming out," said a man to his doctor. "Please give me something to keep it in."

"Well," said the doctor, "here's an old pillbox. Will that do?"

DISCOVERS TYPHOID CARRIER WHO CAUSED TWENTY-FOUR CASES

Another skirmish has been won in the successful California warfare against typhoid. The discovery of a woman "typhoid carrier" who in the past year has caused twenty-four cases of typhoid has just been announced by Dr. J. G. Cumming, Assistant Clinical Professor of Preventative Medicine in the University of California, and Director of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases, maintained at University by the State Board of Health.

A year ago, reports Dr. Cumming, there were a series of cases of typhoid in Bakersfield, including one each in June and July and five in August. There have scattered cases there at intervals ever since. Now the cause has been found—a woman working as a bottler in a dairy some miles out in the country from Bakersfield. She had never suspected that her physical condition was such that, though perfectly well herself, she is a source of typhoid infection for others.

The discovery of the woman who had caused this series of typhoid cases was particularly difficult because the milk from this particular dairy had not been supplied regularly to one single dairy, but had been mixed with the milk of various different dairies and thus scattered about.

Professor Cumming has discovered also a typhoid carrier in Alameda who is known to have been innocently responsible for four different cases of typhoid—all in her own household, for she never come into direct contact with food consumed by the general public.

Extraordinary progress has been made in recent years in controlling typhoid in California. During the past year the annual death rate from typhoid was only about a third of what it was ten years ago.

In order still further to improve California's splendid record in the fight against this wholly unnecessary disease, a vaccine by which people may be immunized against typhoid is being made by theBureau of Communicable Diseases. This anti-typhoid vaccine will be sent free to any physician in California who writes to the Bureau of Communicable Diseases, in care of the University of California at Berkeley.

OUR GREAT FRUIT CROP

Shipments of deciduous fruits from California to points outside this state will reach the grand total of 20,000 cars. This yield is of the estimated value of $30,000,000. This makes a record, both in volume of shipments and in value. The enormous yield of deciduous orchards has been well conserved this year. Besides the shipments of fresh fruits to market, vast quantities have been canned or dried. Compartaively little has gone to waste.

The splendid work that has been done this season in conserving the state's fruit crop should be duplicated, from year to year. Whether in war or in peace; whether in times of abundance or of dearth, it is a shame to have fruit, or any useful food product, go to waste. With facilities for canning and drying the surplus not required for the ready market, California should preserv for the world its magnificent orchard yield without waste.
